Meetings

General - Last Thursday of the Month (except December)

Workshops - Every Thursday

Changes will be notified on our FaceBook page and website.

Next Meeting : 21 March

Doors open at 8:00pm

Please note this month's General Meeting has been brought forward one week with the last Thursday being the evening before Good Friday when the rooms are unavailable (and many of us will have prepositioned to Central Otago) and due another event on the rooms we use we have been asked to delay arriving until 8pm.

Membership Fees

A reminder membership fees are due at the end of the month. These can be paid in cash to me on Thursday or directly in to our account - 11 8427 0328028 11

With a couple of people asking if they have paid I'll be sending out an email to those yet to pay. I'll use BBC so names will not show and plan to get this out after Easter.

Any questions let me know.

Shacklock Trust Application

Applications for the 2024 round of Shacklock funding applications need to be with the Trust by the end of April. With no projects

Upcoming....

29 to 31 March	Warbirds Over Wanaka
25 April	Jim Marks ANZAC Competition
16 to 18 August	Inter Club Competition hosted by Central Otago Model Society
12 /13 October 2024	IPMS Nationals hosted by IPMS Southland
28 November	IPMS Dunedin AGM

in the immediate future I don't think we need to make an application this year. I will add this to the Agenda for the 21st and we can discuss.

Members will remember that the Trust has supported us well in the past.

I would appreciate any thoughts on potential projects be emailed to the committee at ipms.dunedin@gmail.com.

Jim Marks ANZAC Competition

A reminder that in the April meeting we hold the Jim Marks ANZAC Trophy as well as the usual monthly Extreme Hobbies Competition. The rules for the ANZAC Trophy will be published in April's Scalemail as a reminder.

P-8's Now BAU

The Royal New Zealand Air Force (RNZAF) has answered a call from the United Kingdom to support its Blue Belt marine conservation programme, deploying a new P-8A Poseidon aircraft to assist with monitoring of the Pitcairn Islands Exclusive Economic Zone.

The P-8A crew carried out 10 hours of airborne surveillance in January, with a total of 24 vessels reported on.

About 5500 kilometres east of New Zealand, the Pitcairn Island Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) is an 834,000-square-kilometre marine reserve, with all forms of commercial fishing and mining prohibited. A network of remote surveillance sensors provide constant reports of movement in the area.

It is part of the UK's Blue Belt programme, a marine conservation effort that assists UK overseas territories to create and maintain healthy and productive marine ecosystems with the aim of tackling the serious global problems of overfishing, species extinction and climate change.

Air Component Commander Air Commodore Andy Scott said the RNZAF was pleased to assist UK partners in the important task of preserving this area.

“The reporting by the P-8A crew on the Pitcairn task meant that the UK Marine Management Office (MMO) was able to confirm accuracy of the remote surveillance methods so they know what they’re seeing is correct.

“The presence of the aircraft also provides a deterrence factor to those who may be seeking to carry out illegal activities in the marine reserve.

“The range of the P-8A means we’re now able to project even further into areas that require monitoring for various reasons. Earlier this year the aircraft carried out the furthest south continuous patrol the RNZAF has done, in support of the Convention for the Conservation of Antarctic Marine Living Resources.”

The Pitcairn operation was a joint tasking between the UK MMO, the Government of the Pitcairn Islands, the Joint Maritime Security Centre UK, the National Maritime Coordination Centre (New Zealand), New Zealand’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the New Zealand Defence Force.

The RNZAF acquired four P-8A Poseidon aircraft last year and they are regularly deployed to provide maritime surveillance throughout the Southern Ocean and south west Pacific.
